Work Experience

Family Caregiver

Hazy start date ~ Present

TransplantRogues.com

Long story about my husband's declining health and learning how to navigate the health-care system. He is now a double-lung transplant recipient and we are rebuilding our lives.

- Documented our process so we could make sense of what we were trying to accomplish with regard to engaging various health and support agencies.
- Created The Rogue's Transplant Journey: A Workbook To Accompany The Information You Get From Your Doctors & Transplant Team to help transplant candidates and caregivers manage the steep learning curve with (hopefully) less stress.
- I currently volunteer with Transplant BC and the Patient Voices Network.

Facebook Group Moderator: BC Lung Transplant Support Group

- Recently took over responsibility for administering this group. It was started by patients of the VGH Lung Transplant Clinic as a way to connect between in-person support group meetings.
- It has the potential to become an invaluable resource for patients and caregivers who live outside the Vancouver area and who often lack support.
- Clarified purpose of group, updated group information accordingly. Now working on engaging lung transplant recipients.

- Deliver presentations and workshops on aspects of career and small business development including 'personal branding' and online marketing.

Tony Duke Appraisals

Helped my husband develop a business around his strengths that would also work with the physical limitations of his rheumatoid arthritis.

- This is where I learned how valuable a tool creating a personal website could be not just for small business owners, but for individuals (like job hunters).
- Began documenting our procedures, in no small part because we work in very different ways.
